FIREWORKS AT LAKE MARGRETHE — The July 4th fireworks show by the Grayling Booster Club will again be held at the Camp Grayling beach along Lake Margrethe. Persons wishing to view the show from Camp Grayling should arrive well before dusk to avoid a traffic jam. Locals wishing to avoid the traffic on M-93 after the show can take an alternative route out of Camp Grayling suggested by Sheriff Harold Hatfield. Turn south at Building 36, the old warehouse, and take Beaver Creek Road out to Military Road and take Four Mile to I-75 and back to Grayling.

Airport Funding Proposal Taken Off County Ballot

A millage plan to support the Grayling McNamara Airport will not appear on the November ballot after all.

At their June 26th regular meeting, Crawford County Commissioners rescinded an earlier motion that had placed the proposition on the ballot. Crawford County Transportation Authority director Dave Frederick, who proposed the millage plan, asked commissioners to take it off the ballot.

"Not one person outside the Crawford County Transportation Authority has come forward and said they would work to help pass it," said Frederick. "We tested the waters and found it doesn't have the kind of support it needs to pass right now."

The plan called for establishing an airport trust fund by levying one mill county-wide for five years. After five years, the millage would stop and the airport would be operated on the interest from the trust fund.

Currently, Crawford County, Grayling Township, and the City of Grayling contribute a total of about $44,000 a year to help support the airport.

The trust fund could have allowed the airport to possibly operate forever without any more taxpayer support.

Hall of Fame Inductions Will Kick-Off 39th Race

The induction of five paddlers into the International Canoe Racing Hall of Fame will kick off events for the 39th annual AuSable River Canoe Marathon.

The Hall of Fame ceremonies will take place in the afternoon on Saturday, July 26. The names of the initial five paddlers inducted into the Grayling canoe racing Hall of Fame have not been released yet but word leaked out Ralph Sawyer, the all-time career point leader for the AuSable marathon, is one of the paddlers to be honored.

Following Hall of Fame ceremonies, a canoe will be given away in a drawing at Ray's Canoe Livery in Grayling — the site of the marathon start.

The 1986 marathon features $15,000 in prize money for professional racers. Sponsoring the race will be Budweiser, Grayling State Bank, Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce, Fabiano Brothers, and Chemical Bank.

The first place team will earn $2,500 in prize money, 2nd - $1,750, 3rd - $1,400, 4th - $1,100, 5th - $1,000, and on down. At least 25 pro teams are expected to compete.

The sponsors are paying for the expenses of the race and the AuSable River International Canoe Marathon, Inc., is raising the prize money by selling advertisements in the official racebook and selling Budweiser marathon T-shirts. The $2,500 is the biggest first place prize offered in the 39 years of the marathon and every place after first also offers more prize money than in any race before.

The professional race will start at 10 p.m. Saturday, July 26, and the amateur race starts one hour earlier at 9 p.m.

Volunteers are still needed to help during the race. If you want to get close to the excitement of this classic race, call Steve Southard for details.

Landfill Fee Hike Sought To Slow Outside Haulers

The Crawford County Board of Commissioners recommended hiking fees to out-of-county haulers in an effort to slow down the amount of garbage being dumped at the Crawford-Otsego landfill in Maple Forest Township.

The board recommended changing the current fee of $2 a yard for all haulers to $2.75 a yard for out-of-county haulers and $2.25 a yard for Crawford and Otsego haulers.

"We get haulers from Antrim, Kalkaska, Cheboygan, and Alpena and our total volume is running about 2,000 yards a day," said John Miller, Crawford County Commissioner and Landfill Board member.

Miller said they're working the landfill employees as hard as can be expected and they can't keep up with the volume. The landfill board had to hire a private excavating company recently to help dig holes to bury the garbage.

At this rate, the current landfill site will be filled up in about seven years, said Miller.

"I feel like we're being used," said Miller. "They're sending their stuff over and if there's any problem down the road, we're the two counties who pay."

Miller said he recommended to the landfill board a rate increase for out-of-county haulers but the board was afraid they would lose their business.

"At one time, people thought with only Otsego and Crawford there wasn't enough volume to make the landfill pay for itself," said Miller. "If other counties stopped coming here, we would lose half of our volume, but we'd be digging half as many holes. We could go back to two and a half employees instead of three and a half. Probably in the long run we wouldn't be wearing our equipment out as fast."

"We would still have enough money to operate the landfill if the other counties stopped coming. But there isn't any other landfill. They still are going to have to come here. And the burden lays on us 15 years down the road if there's contamination and there's going to be contamination, don't worry about that. Every landfill in the state has contamination. So the burden lays with Crawford and Otsego counties."

Commissioner Bud Joyce agreed with Miller about the out-of-county haulers. "They're not going to have problems in their county, we'll have them all in our landfill."

Miller said the higher fee for out-of-county haulers helps put the burden back on the other counties.

"Our taxpayers are already taking the burden. They bought some landfill equipment for $125,000 that came out of general funds from both counties."

The landfill is making a lot of money, $30,000 to $35,000 a month, but their expenses are increasing too. Miller said landfill expenses will run $325,000 for the year. Digging and filling the large holes for garbage is expensive and taking care of the contamination is also expensive.

The county board sent their recommendation to the landfill board. Commissioner Jeannette Kitchen said even if the landfill board approved the hikes, the Crawford-Otsego rates will still be below most other landfill rates.

County S.E.V. Shows Only Slight Increase

Equalized values for Crawford County increased only slightly overall for 1986, final county equalization figures show.

The state equalized value of property in the county (50 percent of true value) reached $187,698,390 for 1986 — an increase of 2.3 percent from 1985.

It was the second lowest increase since 1961 when S.E.V. records begin for Crawford County.

Two townships actually had overall decreases and two townships had increases of less than one percent.

Maple Forest, with a total state equalized value of $5,439,270, decreased 14.93 percent. Crawford County Equalization director Alfred Borchers said Maple Forest carried a factor last year. The decrease this year was a result of the factor no longer being there.

Lovells Township, with a total state equalized value of $19,325,137, decreased .037 percent.

Grayling Township, with a total state equalized value of $67,014,100, increased by only .006 percent.

Beaver Creek Township, with a total state equalized value of $17,697,702, increased only .07 percent.

South Branch Township, with a total state equalized value of $24,040,915, increased 2.44 percent.

The city of Grayling, with a total state equalized value of $26,001,500, increased 2.85 percent.

Frederic Township, with a total state equalized value of $28,179,766, increased 12.48 percent. Borchers said most of the increase was due to the completion of the Shell sulphur plant.

The overall county increase includes most new construction.

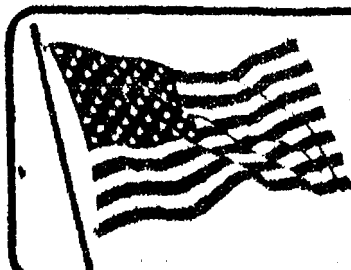

Borchers said increases of 3 to 5 percent in S.E.V.'s each year is normal throughout the state. He said the influence of creative financing of property sales and major adjustments in some townships accounted for the low increase this year.

The real and personal property values figures used to determine the county's equalized values are determined through market sales and other reporting methods such as the real property statement filled out by taxpayers. The Crawford County Equalization office makes 2,500 to 3,000 field trips a year to check on property. This is in addition to field checks made by township or city assessors.

Besides Borchers, Linda Munsey, a field staff appraiser, and Billie Dozer, a secretary and description clerk, work in the county equalization department.

From Our Corner...

Just in case you didn't know...

We attended the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet last Thursday evening at the Holiday Inn...now, you may think, big deal...The reason for this little tid bit is, to compliment the Board of Directors and Terry Wright, Chamber Executive Manager for putting on a most enjoyable evening...

The program which included, Terry's remarks and introduction of out-going President John Alef, II, and incoming President, Norma Naour, was short and sweet...

We remember one time when we were serving on the Chamber board that somehow a downstate speaker was chosen to come up and let us jack pine savages know all about the economy that Michiganders were facing...

This gentleman spoke for about an hour and a half, and believe me...he didn't say anything pertinent to the way of life here in Grayling...

If the present board, and future ones, follow in the footsteps of this year's program, I'm sure there will be more people attending...the crowd that attended Thursday night should give some merit for short programs...

The evening's climax was a film on Michigan's Sesquicentennial that has already started but, will be celebrated in 1987...

For those, like myself, holding losing tickets...we pass this on, the Honorable Mayor walked off with the bushel of booze, so, you can tear up your tickets...

This one we have to plug, because it is happening this Friday...Grayling is the place to be for a full day of fun and frolicking, topped off with a gigantic fireworks at dusk...if you haven't looked at the calendar, Friday is the Fourth of July, our Independence Day that seems to get harder to preserve as time goes by...

Another big event for Grayling this month will be the annual Milltown Festival that will be held from July 22nd thru July 27th...things will be happening everyday for everyone's enjoyment...

One of the major attractions during the Milltown Festival will be the 39th running of the AuSable River Canoe Marathon that begins in Grayling at 10 p.m. Saturday, July 26th and finishes in Oscoda around noon on Sunday, July 27th...the jaunt is not for the novice, it covers something like 240 miles of river and portage dams...

Now a bit of Lansing notes...

Anyone working should hope for this passage...in a report from Representative Ralph Osting in his weekly NortherNotes he relates...

"A bill has been introduced in the Senate and House that would lower the Michigan income tax rate from its current 4.6 percent rate to 4.4 percent effective January 1, 1987. Supporters of the legislation, which he is one, say it is needed to offset an expected windfall to the state treasury generated by the proposed federal income tax reform..."

Here is another one from the Notes..."Starting Jan. 1, 1987, smoking in government buildings could be prohibited, except in specially-defined areas, approved by both the House and Senate. If signed into law by the governor, the bill would make Michigan one of 40 states to enact public smoking restrictions. It does not apply to private employers..."with this legislation, I'm sure the governor and Rep. Osting will lose our bride's vote..."

A few sayings and chuckles to help fill the turkey...

"Happiness is not having what you want, but wanting what you have." Hyman Judah Schachtel, Rabbi.

"The best way to hold a man is in your arms." Murphy's Laws on Sex.

"If I hadn't had them, I would have had some made." Dolly Parton.

Time to bid our gals T.J., Stefany and Amber goodnight, and to all, the best place to be for the Fourth celebration is right here in Grayling...do have a nice weekend...make if a safe and sane one...

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

ATTACKING CATHOLIC ERROR?

For years we have worked along side Roman Catholics and others in opposing moral corruption within our society. We never considered things like abortion as Catholic issues, we feel moral issues involve all humanity. There are a number of considerations to explain the current series exposing Catholic error.

1. We have opposed all other religious error during the past 14 years, why should we avoid the Catholic Church? Are we to consider the souls of precious Catholics just as important as others? If we owe any apology, it is to Catholics who have died without a clear witness of Bible truth concerning their eternal salvation.

2. When we address Catholics we reach many unreached and unchurched people who are Catholic in name only. They are trusting a vague and uncertain hope even by Catholic standards. Many have no faith at all in the person, work and word of our Lord Jesus Christ.

3. Since Vatican II even some Roman Catholic theologians are publicly disagreeing with church policy and practice. If Catholics can say Catholics are wrong, why can't others say so? Catholics have for centuries said Baptists are wrong, and they have that right.

4. We have grown to love and respect many Roman Catholics in Grayling over the years. I have several good Catholic friends. As I read the obituaries, my heart has become more and more burdened. I desire to see these people in heaven. I am deeply hurt to think some may spend eternity suffering in hell. True love must be honest and truthful between friends.

5. We are disturbed about the growing involvement of the Roman Catholic church in international politics. We are disturbed by the growing criticism of the economic and defense structures of the United States of America. We are equally concerned about their growing involvement with international communism. The church of Rome is becoming increasingly directive in the development of third world governments.

6. The great commission commands us to preach the gospel to every nation, (Matt. 28:19, 20), and every creature, (Mark 16:16), this includes Catholics.

7. The Holy Spirit has burdened the hearts of the officers and members of Calvary Baptist Church for any unsaved Roman Catholics. While Catholics have generally been kind and gracious to us, Satan has stirred up severe persecution against us to resist God's work. While the sacrifice has been great, God's glory and the salvation of souls will be worth it.

GI smoking put off limits

by Richard Milliman

WILL WONDERS never cease? Who would have forecast a recent directive by the United States Army that bans smoking in the Army?

That's right. According to a story in The Detroit Free Press, unless local commanders designated smoking sections at their installations, then smoking is off limits. And that goes for smokeless tobacco, or snuff, too.

The news story says smoking will be banned in basic training, in officers' and non-commissioned officers' clubs, on military vehicles and in aircraft; Army PXes will continue to sell cigarettes, however.

ACCORDING TO an Army spokesman, the policy comes from "concern for the health of soldiers" and concern over "the readiness of the force."

"If you got a guy who smokes, that impairs his physical fitness," the spokesman said. "He's sick more often, absent more often, he dies earlier, and is less efficient. The force is degraded, and you're spending money on health."

Those are all pretty sound reasons, and I can't argue with them. However, it's tough to visualize the Army as being a no-smoking area. That doesn't fit the stereotype of the macho image of the military.

BACK WHEN I was in service, smoking was one of the few pleasures a poor draftee was permitted — and smoking was considered a pleasure then, I'll have to admit. The universal GI rule was to "field strip" a cigarette butt after you smoke it — that is, rip up the flimsy cigarette paper and wad it into a minuscule ball, and distribute the loose tobacco around the ground.

After the draftee had to "police the area" a few times and pick up cigarette butts, he would see the merit in the field-strip method, and silently or openly curse those fellow GIs who failed to field-strip their cigarette butts.

Of course, that was before the advent of filter-tipped cigarettes...heck, that was even before king-sized. I often wondered whether filter tips survived the field-strip rule, or whether filters eventually littered the Army camp areas.

I haven't smoked in more than 20 years now, but I still remember as a young Army private that a cigaret was one of the few pleasures permitted. However, I think the new order is a sound one. There's no doubt in my mind people are better off without cigarettes—and that goes for soldiers, too.

MORE PERSONAL PREJUDICES — While we're going in this direction, please indulge expression of a couple more purely personal prejudices:

—Am I the only person around who doesn't like Bill Cosby and his television show? The Cosby Show is always top-rated and has driven one of my favorite television characters — Thomas Magnum, Private Ekye (alias Tom Selleck)—right out of the neighborhood.

But for my taste, Bill Cosby and his television family, and their antics, are all just too cutesy-pie for my taste. I know television is not life; and the Cosby show certainly is not, either. I presume Cosby is trying to prove some sociological point or other, but it's way overboard for me.

And besides that, Bill Cosby is pitching entirely too many products, too — and all in that same gooey, cloying, sweeter-and-cuter-than-all-get-out vein. Ugh!

— FINALLY, I THINK the sobriety check lane program is way off base, too. The aim is a fine one — to cut down on drunken driving and increase the safety of the highways.

But the method sure leaves a lot to be desired. To force everyone to go through a check lane, just because he/she happens to be driving in a certain place at a certain time, is just not fair. It's too much like a police state, and it's directly counter to some of the fundamental freedoms upon which our judicial system is based.

I'll leave the legal details up to the lawyers and the civil libertarians; suffice it to say that to me it's an infringement on personal rights, and I just don't like it.

G.P.A. Reports Music And Excitement For Milltown Parade

It's a month away, but the parade committee of the Grayling Promotional Association has been at work for months. Entries are many and varied. The first priority this year was to get more music. We have at least three bands, and many floats with music.

There are also many newcomers to the parade this year. The Para Dice Motorcycle Club will be represented, Dawn Donuts will send us an entry, the Shrine Motorcycle Drill Team has promised to be on hand.

There will be fantasy characters of all kinds, antique cars to see, many service clubs, radio stations, Mercy Hospital, and the Crawford County Historical Society will be represented.

Everyone should remember that the parade time has been changed this year. It's 4 p.m. on Saturday, July 26th.

You can come to town, stay for the barbecue, and then see the start of the big AuSable Marathon Canoe Race. What a great way to spend a Saturday!!!

In other action GPA continues to promote Grayling activity. They are readying their float for entrance in the July 4th parade. They are selling Milltown Festival 50/50 tickets and McDonald coupons. There were also many GPA'ers at the Milltown Festival Pasta Dinner fund raiser. In fact, where ever there is something going on...GPA is there.

GPA has contracted to refurbish one room at the Historical Society...upstairs at the depot. Plans call for a "Womens Dress Shop." GPA is anxious to obtain any turn of the century womens apparel items you may have. Items can be placed on loan and the donors name will be displayed.

Plans are progressing for GPA to be a part of the county fair. GPA will sponsor the

N.R.C. OKAYS PROPOSALS TO REDUCE FISH KILL

Recommendations to reduce the fish kill at the Consumers Power pump storage plant on Lake Michigan and provide compensation for the fisheries damage have been approved by the Natural Resources Commission.

The fish are killed during the operation of the Ludington plant, which uses massive turbines to draw Lake Michigan water to an elevated storage pond, and releases it producing electricity during high demand periods.

"Our goal is to reduce the number of fish killed and seek compensation for past and future fishery losses," NRC Chair O. Stewart Myers.

The recommendations require the company to design and install a barrier, either nets or other technology, to prevent large fish from entering the facility; require the company to review any new technology to further reduce the loss of fish life and update the review every five years.

They also provide for use of a prior plan as a basis for the company to provide compensation for past and future fishery losses; and require the department to seek additional compensation for unavoidable losses.

A governor's task force to identify ways to improve air service heard progress toward that end with survey results outlining a series of complaints regarding current carriers.

The voluntary survey involving 824 passengers in a six-week period complained most about baggage problems, canceled flights and late departures.

The passengers said about 20 percent of their flights were not on time, while 43 percent said overall service was no better than average.

Simmons Airlines, the largest regional carrier in the state, led the complaint list, although passengers overall rated regional carriers about as well as national ones.

Expanded air service was reported at Traverse City, with three airlines initiating service from Chicago's O'Hare and Midway airports and Detroit Metro airport, and another making a Chicago link non-stop.

A new Saginaw-Grand Rapids-Minneapolis route was added, and new service between Detroit City and Cleveland Burke Lakefront airports was begun.

BLANCHARD PRAISES INDEPENDENT COLLEGES FOR 'BEST' PROGRAMS

Governor James Blanchard has praised three independent Michigan colleges for establishing tuition guarantee programs, saying they are important additions to his proposed Baccalaureate Education System Trust (BEST) program to enable families to guarantee tuition at the state's public colleges and universities.

"We proposed BEST to provide an effective way for parents to guarantee future tuition for their children at Michigan public colleges. We also wanted BEST to stimulate greater interest in higher education in general and ways to help parents meet the problem of rising tuition. These new private programs show that public and independent colleges are both responding to these concerns," Blanchard said.

The University of Detroit, Hope College and Hillsdale College are reportedly setting up tuition guarantee programs to be

Are Today's Teens Obese?

Call Edwards,
Ext. Home Ec.

An attractive physical appearance is of great concern to adolescents as they learn about themselves, others and our society. Unfortunately, being overweight or obese is a common problem for many children and teens in the United States.

Researchers say that teenage obesity has increased by 40 percent in the past two decades. Now, according to a Wall Street Journal report, more than one-fifth of U.S. teens, or 4.5 million 12-to-17-year-olds, are at least 20 percent overweight. But why are today's teens heavier than those of years ago?

"Today teens are much less active and have more labor-saving devices," says Sharon Hoerr, assistant professor of food science and human nutrition at Michigan State University. "As physical activity and physical education classes have decreased, the amount of fat has increased."

Specialists, including Hoerr, say that compared to teens years ago, today's teens work less, exercise less, have more leisure time, eat more fast food and sit down to fewer balanced meals with their families. Many teens come home from school to an empty house where they sit down to watch TV and eat fattening snacks. Sometimes working parents aren't around to monitor snacking and instill good nutrition habits.

Stress related to family traumas such as parents' divorce can also cause weight gains in children and teens.

"It depends on the predisposition of the child," Hoerr says. "Kids deal with divorce and stress in different ways."

A physical injury that severely curtails any physical activity can also cause obesity.

Whatever the causes, the ill-effects of being overweight and obese are both physical and emotional. Obese children have a greater risk of developing diabetes and cardiorespiratory syndrome later in life if they remain obese.

The psychological burdens of obesity can often be more serious than physical problems. Disapproval from peers, academic discrimination, and unrealistic self-image and disturbed family interactions are commonplace for obese children and adolescents, Hoerr says.

What can children and teens do to lose weight and have a more healthy and enjoyable life? Exchanging bad eating habits for good nutrition practices and getting sufficient, regular exercise are important. Hoerr points out that all forms of aerobic exercise, including swimming, biking and dancing, help burn off fat. Aerobic exercise may also help to prevent obesity by affecting food intake and the metabolic rate.

Exercise can substitute for eating as well as enhance self-concept and self-control.

Overweight children and teens who go for a walk or a bike ride after school instead of watching TV and eating when they get bored benefit in two ways: They cut their caloric intake and burn some of the calories they have already consumed.

Exercise is important in treating overweight teens because caloric intakes, especially for teen girls, may already fall short of the amount needed to maintain basal metabolism.

In addition to exercise, children and teens need to eat well balanced and nutritious meals and snacks according to their body needs. People have varying caloric needs, depending on their age, sex, bodybuild and level of physical activity.

Avoid eating out of boredom, Hoerr advises.

Get involved in an activity or sport. Keep the refrigerator stocked with ready-to-eat vegetables such as carrot sticks and broccoli and cauliflower flowerettes, and have oranges and apples handy to grab when you need a quick snack.

Roscommon Arts Festival July 12

Plans are set for the 1986 Roscommon Arts Festival to be held Saturday, July 12, from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Sponsored annually by the Roscommon Chamber Music Society - Arts Council and the Roscommon Business Association, the Festival features over 80 artists and craftsmen exhibiting and selling their work in Wallace Park on the AuSable River, and on the sidewalks of the Business District along Lake and Fifth Streets. Entries in this year's fair include paintings in oils and watercolors, calligraphy, pottery, photography, sculpture, printmaking, basketry, stainedglass, wood items, handmade dolls, folk art, and quilting, to name a few.

Entertainment will again be featured in the day's events. The line-up is still being completed and has a few open spaces, so anyone willing to participate is invited to call Julia Byron at 821-8149. Volunteers willing to assist in the final preparations for the festival are also asked to contact Byron, or Joyce Babis at AuSable Drugs, 275-5481. There is also some space left in the Non-juried Art Fair on the sidewalks. Interested parties are asked to contact Babis.

A children's paint booth, a regular feature of our fair will be open down in Wallace Park to delight and encourage young artists. Under the sponsorship of the Roscommon Coop Nursery and the P.T.A., children can paint up a storm for a nominal donation. Food will be available at many special concession stands throughout the town and near the park, and everyone will enjoy the annual Pie and Ice Cream Social at the Congregational Church.

For the second year, winners of the Juried Art Show in Wallace Park will be recipients of Purchase Awards. A piece of artwork from each of the winning artists will become part of a collection that has been, and will continue to be exhibited throughout our community in various school and community buildings. Three works purchased from participants last year include a watercolor by Birmingham/Higgins Lake artist Dorothy Delehanty, a photograph by Ken Scott of Roscommon, and a porcelain bowl by Saginaw potter, Nora Beiri.

Plan to come and share the fun of the Roscommon Arts Festival on July 12 in Roscommon, AuSable River Country.

A Time For Trying Out New Behaviors

Ann Stephenson, 4-H Program Asst.

The teen years are sometimes considered a very stressful time for young people and those around them. During this time, young people try new behaviors as they develop a sense of self.

Several self-defeating behaviors, including alcohol and drug abuse and pregnancy, can occur. Although these behaviors are extreme, they are occurring in younger and younger youths, says Chris Nelson, MSU Cooperative Extension Service family and child specialist.

A lot of reasons are suggested for these behaviors, including a changing family structure and the early maturation of young people.

"Kids today are under a lot of pressure and stress, partly because of a lack of a place in society for teens," Nelson says. "Too often as kids mature to adults, they don't get the time they need to develop a fully integrated personality, a stable center that allows them to resist pressures and cope with stress."

What can parents do to help their young people through these stressful years?

"Keep the communication door open," Nelson says. "Make time to be together so that communication can happen. It may mean walks, canoeing or lunch. Also, ask kids about their day."

Some families also use dinner time as a sounding board time, she says. After reading about a drug overdose or teen pregnancy in the local paper, parents may ask their kids what they think of the incident. This stimulates discussion between parents and their young people.

Early adolescence has its ups and downs and may be more difficult for parents than for adolescents, Nelson says.

"Parents perceive that their youngsters are moving away from them emotionally," Nelson says, "and they are, but they also need parents so that they can move away. Parents receive mixed messages."

"Parents need to realize that the mixed messages just reflect how their young people are trying to grow up. Parents need to remember that their children do need them."

The Michigan 4-H - Youth Program has four programs that can help young people learn to communicate and understand their feelings - "Group Dynamite," "Peer Plus," "High on Myself" and "Stress Connection."

The Stress Connection teaches participants how stress affects them physically and emotionally and offers techniques for coping with stress in their lives. High on Myself helps young people grow and mature without reliance on chemical substances. It focuses on self-concept building, problem solving and stress reduction.

The Group Dynamite and Peer Plus programs are designed to give young people experience in values clarification and group cohesiveness and to strengthen leadership and communication skills.

For more information about these or other 4-H programs, contact Ann Stephenson at 348-2841 ext. 264.

CARD OF THANKS

To our many neighbors and friends who expressed their sympathy in so many ways, offering of flowers, money to mothers memorial at the Michelson United Methodist Church, food brought to our homes, or just by being there for us. We sincerely say thank you.

We also would like to say thank you to Rev. Jeff Regan who has been so helpful during mothers illness and for all of his visits that she enjoyed so much.

She is sadly missed by all of us and leaves a space in our hearts that nothing else could fill.

Another sign of summer are the June Bugs bouncing off the door screens with that curious sound they make as they seek the lights. That June Bug lying in front of the door with its legs flailing wildly started its life as an egg laid in little holes the adults make in our gardens and lawns. Interestingly those eggs were probably laid two or three years ago.

The grubs live underground all of that time feeding on the roots of various plants. I am not sure they do much moving around, because they just don't look like they can travel very well. One source I have claims they spend the winter three to ten inches underground and mature in August or September. The adults emerge the following spring.

This source states there are at least 100 species. In the South they are common in the long leaf pine area, worst in the Great Lakes area and much less common in the far west. What interested me was the information concerning the adults, which feed mainly on tree foliage at night, and return to hide in soft soil during the day.

The grubs are eaten by skunks, who dig little holes all over the yard as they excavate the grubs out. The grubs are also eaten by bears, crows, pigs and chickens.

Summer Recreation Program

The program will give area youth an opportunity to meet and play together under adult supervision. Children will be able to play horseshoes, Volleyball, softball, baseball, different group games, as well as indoor board games.

Come out and enjoy the summer at Hanson Hills. For further information call 348-9266.

Sullivan Named to TEEN Pageant

Kirsten Sullivan, age 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sullivan, of Marlette, has been selected to compete in the 1986 Miss T.E.E.N. Pageant to be held at Kalamazoo Hilton, on July 4-6, 1986.

In her pageant, Sullivan and other 13 to 19 year olds will be honored and recognized for their achievements, personally, in school, and in their communities.

Miss Sullivan and other young ladies from the state who will participate in the pageant must maintain a "B" grade average in school. Contestants are also required to participate in the Volunteer Service Program. Through this program many teen girls are becoming involved in community activities by contributing at least 12 hours of time benefiting those less fortunate than themselves. This past year, Miss T.E.E.N. Contestants, because of the volunteer service requirement, have donated over 600,000 hours of time across the country to many volunteer and civic organizations.

During the pageant weekend, contestants will be judged on Scholastic Achievement, Volunteer Service, Talent or Speech, Personal Interview and Formal Presentation.

Sullivan's accomplishments and hobbies are: playing piano and flute, running track, playing basketball and most other sports.

Kirsten is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Sorenson of Grayling.

We were discussing soap last week. Well, this week we will talk about it again for a little insight. I will be copying almost word for word from the book, Soap.

Pioneer women used to make their own soap by leaching their ashes for the lye and using the tallow or grease they saved all year-round. In 1806 William Colgate opened up a soap-making concern in New York called Colgate & Company. He bought himself a soap kettle that could make 45,000-pound batches. Colgate was to become the first great soap manufacturer in this country, though it was not until the 1830's that the individually wrapped bars came in uniform weights. In 1872 Colgate came out with Cashmere Bouquet, a perfumed toilet soap.

About 1872 William Procter and James Gamble - one a soapmaker, the other a candlemaker, and married to two sisters - set up business together in Cincinnati. From selling candles and soaps house to house off a wheelbarrow, the business grew. Their real breakthrough came in 1875, when an absentminded employee left his soap mixer on during his lunch break, thereby heating quantities of air into the batch and producing, quite accidentally, the first floating soap. The foreman wanted the soap reboiled, but management thought they might have something. Naming a name, Harley Procter, son of the original Procter, inspired one church Sunday by the reading of the forty-fifth psalm - "All they garments smell of myrrh, and aloes, and cassia, out of the ivory palaces, whereby they have made thee glad" - christened the white soap Ivory. The first cake of Ivory was sold in July, 1879.

Herbally yours,
E. Diona Cerelli, C.H.

Bits O'Talk

The Howard Schmidt's now residing in Avon, Colo. had a family gathering with children Bob Schmidt of Albuquerque, N. Mexico, Harold of Sacramento, Cal. and daughter Genevieve and Bob Shepherd along with daughters Stacie and Nicole of Traverse City, Mich. Daughter Eileen and husband Dan also live in Avon so a great time was had by all hiking, swimming, fishing etc. They all send their best to old friends and family in the Grayling area.

Mrs. Donald Bentley, spent 8 days in Syosset Long Island with friends. They visited New York City three times, shopping, sight-seeing, and lunch at Bloomingdale, a Broadway show, "Cats" and a taping of the Phil Donahue show. Viewing the 132 carat diamond at Tiffany's, visiting the top of the Empire State Bldg., Chrysler Bldg., walking through the rose marble Adriam at Trump Tower and Plaza were some of the highlights. On their 3rd visit, they took a tour of the United Nations and walked from 34th street to 42nd and then on to 5th Ave. A drive by taxi over the Brooklyn Bridge. She also saw the other side of the glamour, by the sight of bag ladies and vagrants sleeping in cardboard boxes, bags covering their heads. Some were lucky to have a blanket. Her last trip to New York City was in 1961, but little has changed, skyscrapers are still as fascinating as they were to her when she first arrived from her native Germany.

Response To Dioxin Scare

Mothers should continue to breastfeed their infants despite recent reports about environmental contaminants, according to La Leche League International, the leading source of information and support for breastfeeding women in the U.S. and Canada.

Recent news items have focused on dioxin contamination of breast milk, causing concern and confusion among nursing mothers. The reports were not based on actual studies of human milk but on data extrapolated from measuring levels of contamination in fatty tissues obtained at autopsies from women in New York State.

Chemicals such as dioxin are present in food sources and in soil, air, and water. They are stored primarily in fatty tissue. The long-term effects on human ingestion of dioxin remain unknown, but giving artificial formulas does not eliminate the risks. Human milk substitutes may also contain trace amounts of contaminants and are not risk free.

Studies over the past twenty years have demonstrated that breastfeeding conveys significant nutritional, immunological, and psychological benefits to infants. La Leche League and consultants from its board of medical advisors have concluded that current information about environmental contaminants in breast milk does not justify depriving infants of the benefits of breastfeeding. Suggestions that mothers limit the length of time they nurse their babies are also unwarranted.

Women can minimize their exposure to environmental contaminants by following these five suggestions: 1) consume only moderate amounts of dairy products, particularly those in high fat; 2) eat less red meat; 3) avoid foods high in fat; 4) avoid quick weight loss diets during pregnancy and lactation (dieting mobilizes fat stores, thus releasing contaminants into the bloodstream); and 5) reduce the use of pesticides and herbicides in the home environment.

Founded in 1956, La Leche League International offers support and information for mothers who breastfeed their babies. Local volunteer leaders are available for phone counseling, and monthly group meetings explore topics of interest to pregnant and breastfeeding women. La Leche League also provides information for health professionals and sponsors an annual Physicians' Seminar.

The next meeting of the Grayling-Roscommon La Leche League will be held on Wednesday, July 9 at 7:30 p.m. in Grayling. For information about local meetings, or for breastfeeding help, call Carolyn Crist at 275-8431.

Youth Service Bureau

As we began our second week of Youth Service Bureau summer counseling and recreation program, our schedule went as planned with the exception of some rain on Thursday.

On Monday group A spent the day swimming and sunbathing.

Tuesday group B began the day by playing Bingo. This was followed by a tour of the Emergency Equipment and a tour of the Fire Department.

Wednesday group A began the morning playing Twister. In the afternoon we had a tour of Mercy Hospital. Afterward, we enjoyed a picnic by the river. After the picnic, we all participated in playing basketball.

On Thursday, group B had planned a canoe trip, but due to weather conditions we postponed our trip until July 10. To substitute our trip, we watched a Science Fiction movie, and did some art's and crafts.

Next week we have the following scheduled: Monday group A Hartwick Pines State Park tour and picnic. Tuesday group B swimming at Pine Knoll campgrounds. Wednesday group A Fish Hatchery tour. Thursday group B Crawford County Historical Museum tour.

This week our appreciations go out to Tony Dormire of the Crawford County EMT's, John Wilcox Fire Department Chief, Mary Joe Conway Public Relations Director, Mercy Hospital.

Dear Editor:
On June 14, 1986 the Crawford AuSable School held an auction to get rid of the items in the middle school that were not going to be used upon completion of the renovation project.

As I understood, everything that was to be sold was of no further value to the school system.

I have since found out that at the auction several of the TRS-80 computers from the High School were sold for the sum of $20.00 each. On the surface this does not sound bad, but there is more.

Several weeks ago I requested the use of the High School computer lab for a group of 4-H kids that were interested in learning more about programming.

Now I want you to know that I am a qualified computer instructor and have taught in the High School lab before.

Upon my request I was told that the lab would cost us $10.00 per hour. The reason given for such a high price was that the equipment was too valuable and very expensive to replace if damaged.

Although I did not agree with the decision, because our local kids should have the opportunity to use school equipment under proper supervision at a more reasonable cost, I did not fight it.

Now I would like to know how such expensive and valuable equipment can become cheap and unwanted over such a short period? Also why were they sold when they could have been used in the elementary school to familiarize the younger children with computers?

I really do wonder how something like this happens, does our school board really know what is happening??

RLDS News

Sunday, June 22, the Grayling Branch of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints paid special tribute to our children and high school and university graduates. The celebration began with an intergenerational worship service.

Elder Dennis Ormsbee, president, and his wife, Brenda, led the congregation in responsive praise. Special music used throughout the service was presented by Chad Ormsbee playing "Nearer My God to Thee" on his slide trombone, Trisha Ormsbee playing "Jesus Loves Me" on the piano and Bernie Fowler singing "Hold Thou My Hand," accompanied on the piano by his wife, Patricia. The congregation and children sang in antiphony, "Children What Is Your Song Today?"

Carroll and Janey Barclay, mother and daughter, led a tribute to graduates. Miss Dusty Horton gave the scripture reading and Jennifer Fassinger and Stacey Austin received the offering. Evangelist Jay Doty was speaker of the hour. From the closing friendship circle the worshipers moved downstairs where seven graduates were special guests at the planned potluck dinner.

Those honored were high school graduates Janey Barclay, Patty Hatfield, Daryl Horton, Michael Pratt, Lacey D. Stephan III and Tim Stephan. Dr. Douglas Slater, also an honoree, was guest speaker. Doug spoke about faith, "faith in oneself and faith in God." He challenged the listener, "follow one's dream, don't let anyone discourage you from a chosen goal, you and God can do it."

Dear Mr. Madsen:

With all the concern over drug abuse, I would like it made mandatory for all County, State and Government officials to be tested periodically for drugs. Since we, as taxpayers, pay their salaries, I feel they should be setting a good example and be free from drugs and any controlled substance.

Since, it has already started on the local level with Dial-A-Ride, the rest of the local governments should be no problem.

Whenever you think about men overcoming handicaps, did you know that men with only one arm have played big league baseball, and big-time football, too... Outfielder Pete Gray, who had only one arm, played 77 games in major league baseball in 1945... And, guard Ellis Jones, who had only one arm, starred on the highly ranked University of Tulsa football teams of the early 1940s, and played in 3 bowl games, the Sugar Bowl of 1943-44 and the Orange Bowl of 1945!

Here's an oddity... The 1927 Yankees are often called the greatest team in baseball history, yet they do NOT hold the record for winning the most games in a season... The '27 Yanks won 110 games, but 2 other teams have won more in a year... The Cubs of 1906 won 116, and the Indians of 1954 won 111.

Did you know that a big league baseball player once struck out while sitting on the bench... It happened in 1952 to Sammy White... He had 2 strikes on him and was replaced by a pinch-hitter... The pinch-hitter took a third strike, but under baseball scoring rules, the strikeout was charged to White since he had 2 of the 3 strikes-so, White struck out while sitting in the dugout!

I bet you didn't know... that Scheer Motors is offering 5.9% financing on over 80% of our inventory. This rate is the lowest interest rate that does not effect the price of our cars. Save now, rates are the lowest they will ever be.

Resource Review

By Bruce Patrick
Conservation Officer

A recent ruling by the Michigan Court of Appeals will affect some persons in this area. The ruling (People vs. King, Gibb and Taylor, #84372) declares that sailboards do not meet the definition of a vessel, as defined by the Marine Safety Act. Because of this, Personal Flotation Devices (PFD's) cannot be required on them. The court felt that sailboards were in the same category as water sport equipment such as inner tubes, air mattresses and float boards rather than "any watercraft... used or capable of being used as a means of transportation on water."

In light of this decision, those persons who use sailboards in Michigan waters will not be required to possess a PFD. The decision goes on to say that: "As a practical matter, there is no place on a sailboard to secure a PFD... If a wind surfer must wear a PFD, a greater safety hazard could result" because a sailboard's mast is not supported and drops to the water when released. A wind surfer may be "battered by his own equipment" because he can't dive out of the way. Nothing was said as to what happens to a wind surfer if he is battered and isn't wearing a PFD.

Although no longer required, I would certainly hope and strongly recommend that anyone using a sailboard would wear a PFD. A molded ski vest is not cumbersome and will save your life.

A New Found Family

Those who settle into long stays at homes for the aged often find friends among other residents and staff and eventually regard them as family. This is an interesting phenomenon.

It seems less likely to occur when family visits become infrequent or cease altogether or when stability among the institutional staff allow personal relationships time to develop. Residents are genuinely comforted by the presence of their new family, and staff may also go well beyond mere job requirements in caring for the "grandmother" or "uncle" they have come to love. The situations sometimes seem to represent a triumph of humanity over the impersonal process. Nevertheless, loneliness, social isolation and the heavy tedium of having nothing to do characterize many old people during extended periods of institutionalization. This is more likely to be true in large homes and seems to happen when the institution gets beyond the size of a large private house. The difference a 100-resident and a 500-resident home in terms of psychological adaption may be less than the difference between a 25 and a 50-resident home. This is now well known to many administrations, and more attempts are being made to establish smaller residential settings in which everyone has a greater opportunity to feel at home.

There is always the question of what is normal adaptation. After all, residents have to adapt into "too much of a world of sickness and death." A resourceful old person in long-term homes even become depressed when adaptation succeeds. It is identification with the infirm and failing. It is acknowledgement of death to come. The person who appears not to be adjusting to institutional life may at least command some attention because he does not fit in. We should, therefore, not take too simple a view of adaption to life in a home for the aged. The pattern of relationships there can be as

Just a Piece of Paper?

The Declaration of Independence is just a piece of paper. On it were written words—beautiful words, hot words, words with bite. At first only two people signed it; later 53 members of that august gathering affixed their signatures. Even later four more signed.

But, it's just a piece of paper. Actually, the paper on which it was written became so fragile that in 1894, it was permanently sealed in a steel case to keep it from light and air.

Yet, that piece of paper became the script for a people bent on liberty and freedom. It contained words that could spell death or mean life to a new nation struggling for birth. That piece of paper launched a revolution which produced a national spirit that gave reality to hopes and dreams for freedom.

And that piece of paper has been splattered by blood of many who believed in its purpose, and their blood became the seeds that built America. Freedom is not a piece of paper! It is an idea, a concept, a lifestyle, an experience; and, our forebears believed it a right.

The original Declaration of Independence has faded, but its ideas, concepts, and words are burned forever in the souls of this nation and etched on the hearts and minds of persons for whom life is liberty and for whom freedom is more precious than life itself.

(Footnote: Revolution that produces freedom is never completed. Each day its reality must be maintained by those privileged to enjoy it.)

Strolling Around Town

by Fay

There hasn't been much time for strolling in town this week as we did most of our strolling on an Illinois riverboat, the Julia Belle Swain, this week. However we have noticed that Tillie Gildner has roses starting to bloom and her front walk planters filled with salmon-colored impatiens. Just around the corner from her on Date Street is the Helen Harwood residence whose backyard can be partially seen from the street and is full of all kinds of flowers. On the corner of Madsen and Lawndale, the Ralph Helsels have flowers. Bonnie Tiffin has a well-kept yard and on Huron Street, Mrs. Cox has her kettle full of flowers again this year. Many of the apartments in the housing complex have lots of flowers starting to show. We'll have to call on our friends over there to help us out with the names of people who are doing a special job in plantings. More next week - my phone is 348-7017 if you wish to comment on someone's place.
